SECTION 01

COLOR, TYPE & LOGO DIRECTION

CORE PALETTE

Ink Black #141210 · Primary	Blaze Orange #FF5C1A · Action	Bone #FAF6EF · Surface

Deep Teal #1C4E4C · Accent	Clay #8C2F1B · Accent	Sand #F0E9DD · Tint

LOGO LOCKUPS

--	--

- Minimum clear space equal to the height of the "B" mark on all sides.
- Mark alone works as favicon, social avatar and heat-press neck label.
- Orange never used for body copy — buttons, prices and highlights only.

TYPOGRAPHY

DISPLAY — ANTON

YOUR ART, PRESSED PERFECT.

Headlines, prices, category tiles, marquee. Always uppercase, tight leading.

BODY — INTER

Semibold 16–18px — product names, buttons, nav

Regular 15–16px for body copy. Full-color DTF printing on tees, hoodies, tumblers, mugs and craft blanks. Soft-hand transfers that stretch, survive 60+ washes and never crack.

VOICE & MESSAGING PILLARS

- No minimums
One shirt gets the same attention as five hundred. Repeated in nav, hero and footer.
- 24-hour art proof
The single strongest differentiator against online print-on-demand competitors.
- 60-wash guarantee
Answers the top objection to DTF: "will it crack?" Stated as a promise, not a claim.
- Printed in New Jersey
Local, hand-pressed, never outsourced. Supports higher pricing than marketplace sellers.

SCREEN 01 · DESKTOP 1440PX

HOMEPAGE — ABOVE THE FOLD

First screen carries the promise, the proof and two clear paths: buy a stock design now, or upload custom art. Product render is a placeholder for final studio photography.

SCREEN 01 · FULL-PAGE SCROLL

HOMEPAGE — COMPLETE PAGE

Read left to right. Nine sections: hero, trust marquee, category tiles, best sellers, why-DTF proof block, four-step process, guarantee strip, reviews, bulk quote form, footer.

A · HERO → CATEGORIES

B · BEST SELLERS → PROCESS

C · REVIEWS → QUOTE → FOOTER

SECTION-BY-SECTION INTENT

A · Hero, marquee, categories

The hero answers "what do you print and can I trust you" in one screen. The orange marquee repeats the four buying objections as claims. Four category tiles split the catalog the way customers actually shop: tees, hoodies, drinkware, transfers.

B · Best sellers, why DTF, process

Four ready-to-ship products give an immediate buy path for casual visitors. The why-DTF block then educates the custom-order buyer on color, feel and durability, and the four-step process removes the "how does this even work" hesitation before the quote form.

C · Guarantees, reviews, bulk quote

Guarantee tiles and 1,284 verified reviews carry the proof. The page closes on the highest-value action — a same-day bulk quote with tiered discounts and artwork upload — rather than a generic newsletter sign-up.

SCREEN 02 · DESKTOP 1440PX

SHOP ALL — FILTERED GRID

Left rail filters by category, print method, size, color, price and availability. Active filters repeat as removable chips above the grid so the customer always knows what they are seeing.

SHOP & PRODUCT — COMPLETE PAGES

Nine products per page with pagination to seven pages. Product page closes with a cross-sell row pairing apparel with drinkware — the highest-value basket for a print studio.

Shop page decisions

- Filter by print method
DTF apparel, UV-DTF drinkware and transfer-only are separate filters — customers shopping for a gang sheet are not shopping for a shirt.
- Counts on every filter
Shows catalog depth and prevents dead-end zero-result combinations.
- Add to cart on the tile
Stock designs can be bought without a product page visit; colorway dots set expectations first.

Open questions for you

- ☐ Confirm the six garment colors to stock at launch
- ☐ Is 12 pieces the right first bulk discount tier?
- ☐ Should gang sheets be priced per inch or per sheet?
- ☐ Do you want reviews on product pages at launch, or phase two?
- ☐ Rush production fee to display — flat or percentage?

SCREEN 03 · DESIGN RATIONALE

WHY THE PRODUCT PAGE IS BUILT THIS WAY

SCREEN 03 · DESKTOP 1440 × 900 VIEWPORT

- 1 Five-image vertical gallery
Garment, alternate colorways, a hoodie in the same design and the raw transfer sheet — so buyers see the print on more than one blank.
- 2 Strikethrough price + save badge
Anchors the $24 against $32. Applied only to genuinely discounted SKUs.
- 3 Sold-out sizes stay visible
2XL is hatched with a restock date instead of being hidden, which prevents "do you have my size" support emails.
- 4 Print placement as an upsell
Front + back at +$6 and sleeve at +$4 lift average order value without a separate configurator screen.
- 5 Two buy paths, one page
Primary button buys the stock design. Secondary outlined button routes custom-art customers into the quote flow instead of losing them.
- 6 Four trust tiles under the fold line
Shipping speed, wash guarantee, proof turnaround and bulk pricing — each the answer to a common pre-purchase question.
- 7 Specs in an open accordion
Fabric weight, print area and dpi are open by default; care, shipping and artwork requirements stay collapsed.

Build note. Layout is Shopify-compatible. Print placement maps to a line-item property, artwork upload to a file-upload app, and the bulk quote form to a standard form endpoint with email routing to hello@billprints.com.

SCREEN 04 · MOBILE 390 × 844

MOBILE VIEWS

Roughly two-thirds of print-shop traffic arrives on a phone. Nav collapses to the mark plus cart, the hero stacks copy over product, and product grids run two-up with the same tap targets.
